That our American forests abound in plants which possess the most valuable medicinal virtues is abundantly attested by scores of the most eminent medical writers and teachers. Even the untutored Indians had discovered the usefulness of many native plants before the advent of the white race. This information, imparted freely to the whites, led the latter to continue investigations until today we have a rich assortment of most valuable American medicinal roots.

Dr. Pierce believes that our American forests abound in plants which possess the most valuable medicinal virtues is abundantly attested by scores of the most eminent medical writers and teachers. Even the untutored Indians had discovered the usefulness of many native plants before the advent of the white race. This information, imparted freely to the whites, led the latter to continue investigations until today we have a rich assortment of most valuable American medicinal roots.

Not less marvelous in the unparalleled cures it is constantly making of woman's many peculiar affections, weakness and distressing derangements, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as is amply attested by thousands of published testimonials contributed by grateful patients who have been cured by it of catarrhs, pelvic inflammation, irregularities, prolapses and other displacements, capriciousness, nervousness, loss of appetite, habit-forming drugs, after many other advertised medicines, and physicians had failed.

Both the above mentioned medicines are wholly made up from the specific extracts of native medicinal roots. The processes employed in their manufacture were original with Dr. Pierce and they are carried on by skilled chemists and pharmacists with the aid of apparatus and appliances specially designed and built for this purpose. Both medicines are entirely free from alcohol and all other harmful, habit-forming drugs, full list of their ingredients is printed on each bottle wrapper.

BATTLESHIP BREAKS RECORD.

The North Dakota is the fastest battleship of the Dreadnought type afloat as well as one of the two most powerful battleships in the world. Her screw standardization course yesterday developed a maximum speed test over the Rockland Me., measured mile of 22.25 knots, and an average of 21.833. Both marks are in excess of the best performances of either her sister ship, the Delaware, or the Bellerophon, the leading Dreadnought of the British navy.

In attaining this surprising speed the turbine engines of the North Dakota were forced to the development of more horsepower than has been reached by any battleship afloat. A maximum of 35,150 horsepower was recorded, while 33,875 horsepower was the mean amount. The maximum number of revolutions of her paddle composition propellers was 256 a minute. It was found that 263 revolutions in this time were sufficient to maintain the contract speed of 21 knots.

The North Dakota, by her performance yesterday, takes precedence as a general first-class battleship over any other afloat. Her sister ship, the Delaware, which was given her trials over the same course on October 23, was in uncertain possession of this honor by her trial performances, but the figures recorded for the North Dakota yesterday surpass those of any other Dreadnought. There is but one other battleship afloat at the present time whose attainments may exceed those of the North Dakota. This is the Neptune, just launched for the British navy. The Neptune, however, will have to attain to figures much in excess of specifications to accomplish this. The Bellerophon, of the British navy, has made but 22.1 knots, compared with the North Dakota's performance of 22.25.

THE SPOOK-POWER LINE.

Influenced by an apparently inexplicable power, the contents of a house in Portland, Ore., were for hours on Tuesday afternoon turned topsy-turvy from cellar to garret. Furniture, as well as other inanimate objects, moved as if they were things of life. These occurrences were vouched for by hundreds of persons who visited the house and were witnesses of the phenomena.

A six-foot extension table raised itself on two legs and fell on its side, a sofa moved from its place against the wall and careened on its side, a clock on a shelf turned almost completely around and stopped at 3:30 p. m., dishes on every surface stood on edge and rolled to the floor, a Morris chair fell over a tea kettle and a coffee pot refused to remain on the cook stove, although replaced there repeatedly, and a basket of onions traveled across a drainboard and dropped to the floor, though put back a dozen times. The phenomena ceased as suddenly as it began.

Various theories have been put forth, one being that it was caused by an electrical storm which prevailed on Tuesday, and another that an unknown potential was engineered by an 11-year-old boy, whose grandparents occupy the premises. The child is declared by some of his relatives to have previously caused articles of great weight to move.

TO KNOW A MAN.

"Play cards with a man for an hour, and you will know him better than 10 years of conversation," says a German writer. But "Sonia," in a recent number of "Figaro," suggests another character barometer. A never failing test is in the hotel room. The way a man arranges his room in a hotel shows whether he has been well reared, what his ideas of propriety are, whether his bump of order has been developed; whether he is methodical or slovenly, and one may even know by the way wearing apparel, ornaments and baggage are disposed of in a room which the occupant knows he will remain in only a few days, whether he is thoroughly or superficially educated. "If I had a daughter for whom a young man sued," says Sonia, "I would have him go to a summer resort where I could surprise him in his hotel room. In less than fifteen minutes my verdict would be rendered on the basis of the room's appearance."

Fifty years' experience of an Old Nurse—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is the prescription of one of the best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and has been used for fifty years with never-failing success by millions of mothers for their children. It relieves the child from pain, cures diarrhea, griping in the bowels, and wind colic. By giving health to the child, it rests the mother. Twenty-five cents a bottle. oct 20 eod.
